PAYING THE FIDDLER

COUNT BONI'S EXTRAVAGANCE
IS MOST PICTURESQUE.

He is Said to Owe Something Near $3,000,000, Much of it for Jewelry.

Paris, Feb. 13.—The scandal in the family of Count Boni de Castellane is destined to furnish aristocratic society gossip for another month. An American woman, moving in the exclusive set of Parisian society, said today: "I hear the count's debts aggregate 18,000,000 francs, of which 8,000,000 francs is due to jewelers. Boni is heavily indebted also to money lenders and tradesmen. His extravagance is picturesque and monumental.
"It is stated that he once borrowed from a tailor. He ordered a fur coat costing 100,000 francs. When the coat was delivered there was 90,000 francs in one of the pockets. This method of borrowing from tradespeople is practiced by many aristocrats in Paris."
A viscountess, whose name is mentioned in connection with the count's said before the scandal was disclosed, while praising the count's amiability:
"Just fancy! Boni dined in my home only a few times, and now sends me a pearl necklace, worth 100,000 francs."
The count's extravagance rivaled that of the eccentric English Marquis Anglesey, who, in paying his bills, always scorned to accept any change. His generous tips enriched scores of lackeys in Paris.

THE PAT CROWE CASE
Noted Kidnapper is Positively Identified by Several.

Omaha, Feb. 13.—The most important witness in Pat Crowe's trial yesterday were W. S. Glynn and his son, Frank, liverymen, from whose stable it is alleged Crowe telephoned to Cudahy the morning after the kidnapping of the latter's son, asking him if he had found a letter in his front yard and advising him to make immediate search for it. The letter contained the demand for $25,000 ransom. Both the Glynn's positively identified Crowe as the man who did the telephoning. Several other witnesses gave testimony of a minor character.

Women often mistake audaciousness for bravery in men, and admire it with equal fervor.

CITY'S PROPOSITION WAS TURNED DOWN

Telephone Company Would Not Accept Compromise Terms.

It Wanted the Franchise to Embody
One Rate, and City Wanted
Another.

COURTS MAY HAVE TO SETTLE

The anticipated compromise between the city and the East Tennessee Telephone company did not materialize this morning at a meeting of the general council and City Solicitor Campbell, and General Counsel W. L. Granberry, of Nashville, for the Cumberland Telephone company, which operates the East Tennessee under lease, and the company's local attorneys, Wheeler, Hughes and Berry.

The city offered to put up for sale a compromise franchise, to embody these rates:
Business telephones...$4.00 a year
Residence telephones...$2.00 a year
These rates were for 4,000 telephones, the company to have the privilege of increasing rates 50 cents a month on business telephones and 25 cents on residence telephones, for each additional thousand, up to $6 on business telephones and $3 on residence telephones, which was to be the maximum rate that could be charged for 20 years, the life of the franchise.

The telephone company rejected the proposition. It wanted the rates cited above for 3,000 telephones, the 50 cent and 25 cent increase to go on for any part of an additional thousand.

The effort to compromise today was the result of long-drawn out litigation between the city and the telephone company, which recently came to a head in the shape of an injunction taken out in federal court restraining the city from interfering in any way with the operation of the company's line.

When the case came up at Louisville before Judge Evans the city promised to not molest the company pending a compromise, and no injunction was issued. The effort to compromise is what came up today, and failed.

It is supposed that the case will now go the rounds of the courts, the telephone company to renew its motion for an injunction.

When the city's suit to oust the company came up in circuit court several weeks ago it was thrown out on a technicality, and the federal court injunction asked by the company was the next step.

"I am sorry that we did not settle this matter today," said Mayor Yeiser. "I was in favor of a compromise and hoped for one. I suppose now the city will let the case be fought out in the courts."

The mayor has always contended that the company has no right, under present circumstances, to do business in the city, and wanted to make it take a franchise. He recognized the fact that the city was under a moral obligation, probably, to accept the company's offer and wanted to do so.

The attorneys for the company say they have made what they thought was a very fair proposition, and have nothing further to offer, and will now let the federal court decide what rights it has in the city. They contend they have the whip-hand in the matter, and will win in a test of the merits of the case.

Judge James Campbell, in his remarks to the council today said it was an unwise move for the city that the case got into the federal courts, conveying the impression that the city would have had a better case in the state courts.

President Discusses Situation.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Chinese exclusion legislation was one of the subjects discussed yesterday by the president. Representative Perkins, of New York, a member of the subcommittee of the house foreign affairs committee which has this subject under consideration, told the president that the matter soon would be taken up by the committee and that he had no doubt definite action would be taken.

Mr. Perkins believed it would be the effort of congress to render less objectionable the laws enforced against the Chinese. His idea is that United States officials be located at a few of the important ports of China and that they issue to immigrants to the United States certificates which shall be accepted on their arrival in America as definite evidence of the right of the holders to land here.

Mr. Perkins says there is no intention on the part of congress to admit Chinese coolies to this country.

IS ANNOUNCED.

$272,000 Still Available—Postmaster at Catlettsburg, Ky., Appointed.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—The Kentucky river improvement will go ahead during the coming year, notwithstanding the fact that there is to be no river and harbor bill. Mackenzie assured him that there is a balance of $272,000 which can be applied to the Kentucky river improvement work. Gen. Mackenzie estimates that to complete the improvement of the Kentucky as it should be completed, in addition to the locks under contract, probably four more locks will be required to extend slack water navigation up as far as the three forks at Beattyville. BECKHAM FORCES DEFEATED BARRY

In His Effort to Add Blackburn
Men to Committee.

It Was the First Trial of Administration's Strength in the House.

JUDGE BARRY MAKES CHARGES

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 13.—The first test of strength of the state administration forces in the lower branch of the general assembly, came shortly before noon today, when Representative Eli Barry, of Lyon and Marshall, attempted to put through a resolution naming a committee of his own selection, and of men of the Blackburn faction in the late political fight, to be added to the committee previously elected by the speaker, to investigate several departments of the state government, to ascertain as to the advisability of curtailing assistance and salaries.

The house by a vote of 54 to 39 adopted a substitute for the resolution, the substitute providing an addition to the committee, but allowing the speaker to name the new members of that committee.

Mr. Barry said his resolution grew out of the failure of the original committee to meet with him. He declared that he could not get a committee meeting, and that if he could, he could prove that thousands of dollars are being wasted and men in minor positions paying monthly, half of their salaries to hold jobs.

TUITION PUPILS

ON THE INCREASE

Revenue May Pay Salaries of High School Teachers Soon.

The Schools Are Improving Rapidly and Offer Great Inducements to County Pupils.

BETTER RESULTS NEXT YEAR

That the Paducah public schools are nearing a type of perfection equalled by few public school systems is evidenced in the fact that an increase of 33 per cent has been made in the number of tuition pupils this year over last year, and if the increase continues, and the proposed improvements in the county schools are carried through, within a few years the tuition pupils in the Paducah public schools will be sufficient to support the high school teaching force, or a large portion of it, at least.

It is proposed that drawing and music with a better course of English be installed in the county schools. If this is done the county pupils will be able to enter the high school after graduating from the county schools, without an examination, and this will encourage more county pupils to come to the city to finish their education.

There are many county teachers who desire to come into the public schools as teachers, but few ever succeed because of the fact that it requires harder and more thorough work to pass through the requisite city examinations than county, and few county school graduates ever become city school teachers.

To encourage the advancement of the city schools the officials have given Supt. Lieb permission to make a specialty of soliciting tuition pupils but little of this class of work has been done on account of the small facilities at present. The teachers will work for more tuition pupils, however, that the income be sufficient to support one or two additional teachers in the high school department.

"In Maryville, Mo., my home," Supt. Lieb stated this morning, "the tuition pupils alone pay for more than half the teachers in the high schools, and I find this in many other towns even a great deal smaller than Paducah, and see no reason why the Paducah schools should not have more tuition pupils. The fact that private schools are fast disappearing in Paducah indicates the advancement of the public schools, and while it is a long pull to this end, we intend to start a campaign and secure tuition pupils sufficient to cut some figure in the financial end."

On account of the present teaching facilities in the high schools, admission of tuition pupils is not encouraged to a great extent. The teachers have their hands full as it is with home pupils, but next year it is expected that one additional teacher will be added to this department and the campaign can be started.

Supt. Lieb has received permission from the majority of the board members to attend the annual meeting of the superintendents and college men of the National Educational Association at Louisville on the 27th and 28th of February and 1st of March. This will probably be the most important national educational meeting this year and Mr. Lieb is anxious to attend.

There are three teachers out of school on account of illness, but their illness is not serious.

Miss Mary Owen Murray, of the departmental work, and Mrs. Kate Stuart, of the first grade Washington building, and Miss Esther Boyd, of the Longfellow building, are ill. Their places are being filled by substitutes.

FAMOUS NEGRO POET.

Paul Laurence Dunbar Dies at Dayton, Ohio.

Dayton, O., Feb. 13.—Paul Laurence Dunbar, the famous negro poet, after a hard-fought battle with death, extending over a series of years, died of consumption at his home in this city.

The deceased was born in this city June 27, 1872. His parents were of pure African blood and occupied a lowly station. While yet a mere child the future poet displayed promise of remarkable genius, which was fully realized in later life. He graduated from the high school in this city and afterward accepted such employment as he could secure. It was during this period that he first came into notice as a poet. While yet an elevator boy in one of the downtown business blocks he brought forth his first volume, entitled "Oak and Ivy Poems," in 1893. Later he was employed as page in the common pleas court. His volume, "Majors and Minors," was written in 1895, while he was holding a position in the office of clerk of litigation in Chicago. Later he accepted an invitation to tour Europe, where he delighted large audiences with his recitation of his own productions. Altogether he gave to the world twenty-two volumes, of which two were novels and the others poems. He had been in failing health since 1901. The poet's last composition was "Howly, Honey, Howdy!" He was married in 1895 to Alice Ruth Moore, of New York, herself a brilliant public reader and student. The wife and the poet's mother survive him, besides two half brothers, who live in Chicago.

Daily Thought.

We do not trust one another enough in life.—Patterson.

GLASGOW AS AN OBJECT LESSON

Immediately after his election Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, asked the city of Glasgow to send to Chicago one familiar with the operation of street railroads by the city, to report on the Chicago situation. Mr. Dalrymple was sent, says the Louisville Post.

After a somewhat superficial investigation Mr. Dalrymple returned to Scotland and made a report to the mayor of Chicago which has been suppressed.

The Chicago Tribune has secured an interview with Mr. Dalrymple, in which he repeats the substance of his report.

Mr. Dalrymple says, first, the Chicago system will have to be reconstructed at a cost of 75 millions, in addition to the purchase price;

Second, the companies, uncertain of tenure, have neglected the property;

Third, the companies' proposals to transfer to the city are fair and reasonable;

Fourth, Glasgow does not operate street cars any cheaper per car mile than do the private companies of Chicago;

Fifth, wages are lower in Glasgow, but hours are shorter;

Sixth, Glasgow cars do not run as fast as those of Chicago.

Concerning the influence of politics, Mr. Dalrymple says:

"As to the question of municipalization itself, I can only say that it works well here in Glasgow, but that is because we operate the lines just the same as if we were a private company. We are not in the least influenced by questions of politics. Our main concern is to run the lines and make them beneficial to our citizens and efficiently operated, just the same as they would be by a well organized private company, with all the advantages of private management, irrespective of public control, political influence or jobbery."

Yet even in Glasgow there is complaint of extravagance and inefficiency, and here in corporate management extravagance and inefficiency are not unknown. Of the operations the Scotch expert says:

"Our cost of operation is not any cheaper per car mile than the cost in Chicago, for, though our wages are lower, our operatives do not work such long hours, and our cars are not run so fast as in Chicago. If you don't run your cars so fast you don't get as much done. Neither is our revenue per mile much different from the American tramway lines, but our fares to the man on the street are cheaper. We have a 1 cent fare, and fares graded according to distance up to 10 cents. The revenue works out about the same as the American 5 cent fare with transfers, but we think the 1 cent fare, ranging up to 4 cents, suits the largest body of the community.

"One great difference is that our cars carry almost twice as many people as those of the Chicago system. Therefore we can give twice as many people seats. We have seats on top of all our cars, each car carrying twenty-four inside and thirty-six on top. We carry twice as many people per car mile as Chicago, and all our people get seating accommodations. One-third of our population pays only a 1 cent fare, and our average fare is considerably less than 2 cents."

In Glasgow the system is for the benefit of the short haul; in America it is for the benefit of the long haul. Here we wish to reach into the suburbs, taking the workingmen and all men away from their factories or offices. It does not seem clear that the Glasgow service would suit an American city, but it seems possible to improve on the service in any American city.

Very few papers in the state approve of the ruinous legislation proposed in the general assembly. A great many of Kentucky's mainstays are threatened by a number of bills, and it is to be hoped that the legislature will see clearly the danger to the state and people and defeat them. The Louisville Times says of the insurance bill that it believes "that capital invested in Kentucky should be encouraged, that outside capital should be invited, but that, in no instance, should the effort be made to coerce capital. The insurance commissioner should have the power to require all life insurance companies doing business in the state to keep their funds invested in safe securities at as good a rate of interest as they can get, but the interest of the policyholders requires that the companies be free to seek the best market, no matter where it is. This privilege will be denied them if they are forced by law to invest 80 per cent of the reserve on policies hereafter issued in Kentucky securities and loans."

The claim that the resolution adopted by the aldermen regarding their refusal to renew a saloon license in June for any person who has been convicted of a violation of the law in the meantime, or whose bartender or other employee has been convicted, will not be effective unless passed by the council is erroneous. A saloon license cannot be granted except by vote of both boards, and the board of aldermen can prevent the issuance of a saloon license by its own vote, without the co-operation of the council. The council, however, will no doubt concur in the resolution.

Ask your doctor if when he orders a patient to drink lots of pure milk he advises the addition of a large quantity of whiskey. He'll tell you "no" very emphatically. Yet there are people who, when ordered to get Scott's Emulsion, will accept some wine, cordial or extract of cod liver oil and think it is the same thing or better. If you want and need cod liver oil in its best, purest and most easily digested form, get Scott's Emulsion. If you want whiskey, that's another matter, but don't look for the same results.

INVENTOR CALLED FOR A CONFERENCE

W. T. Harris Was Here En Route Home From Chicago.

Has Invented a Device to Save 70 Per Cent of Locomotive Fuel.

THE I. C. MAY ADOPT IT SOON.

The I. C. road is preparing to adopt a patent which will save it 70 per cent or thereabout in fuel annually, and the inventor of the device was in Paducah today en route to his home in Louisville after a conference with William Renshaw and other higher officials of the road at Chicago.

The inventor is W. T. Harris, a railroad man who has a mechanical turn of mind. Mr. Harris set about to devise some means of utilizing the exhaust steam of an engine and conceived the idea of a pump working as the air pump does, which will draw back the exhaust steam and pump it with the supply water into the boiler for use again.

He rigged up his pump and made several successful tests before he presented it for trial by the road. His patent rights were all secured before he made known his invention and so quietly has the practical test been made that little has been said of the pump outside of Louisville, where the test is being made.

Engine No. 11, has the pump and it has been in use for some time. Its success on this engine has been phenomenal and figures show a reduction of 70 per cent, according to the inventor, in fuel. So successful was the pump that he was called to Chicago in conference with the officials and they desire to provide several other engines with the pump and give it a thorough test.

Mr. Harris stated at the depot that he felt sure his invention would prove successful. It has so far, and it remains only for the road to decide to adopt it. Mr. Harris returned to Louisville at noon and expects to hear something definite about the adoption of his invention within a short time.

During the past several years the I. C. has brought forth many inventions. In fact, this road encourages its employees to think out labor and fuel saving devices, and they can be found all along the system. Even at Paducah several inventions of importance have been placed on the market and some have proven successful. Mr. Harris' pump will add one more achievement to the road in the way of inventive geniuses in the rank of its employees.

MUCH INTEREST

In Who Will Succeed the Late Maj. Thomas, President of N., C. & St. L. Railroad.

In N., C. & St. L. railroad circles there is great interest in the question who will succeed to the presidency of the company made vacant by the death of Maj. J. W. Thomas. J. W. Thomas, Jr., a son of Major Thomas, and now general manager of the company, is in line for the position, but so, also is H. F. Smith, traffic manager of the road. Mr. Smith is a brother of Milton H. Smith, president of the L. & N., which company controls the N., C. & St. L., and his prospects are considered better than that of young Thomas.

Whether there would be any other changes in the officials is not known in local railroad circles, but the probabilities are there will be no changes affecting any of the local officials.

POLICE WORKING ON THE MURDER THEORY

Believed That John Garner Was Killed by a Blow.

The Inquest Developed the Fact That the Young Man Was Not Drowned.

EVIDENCE THUS FAR SECURED.

The theory that William Burns Garner, the young collar maker apprentice whose body was found in the Ohio river at the foot of Monroe street Sunday morning, was murdered and his body thrown into the water to hide the crime, is the one Paducah police and friends of Garner are working on.

Detective Moore stated this afternoon that he had several deductions which he was working on and may have something to report shortly, but nothing at present. The last trace of Garner alive according to the testimony of the witnesses before the coroner's jury was on Second street when Garner asked John Elrod for liquor.

His whereabouts from the time he left his boarding house Sunday afternoon a week ago until Saturday night when he showed up at a barber shop, is still a mystery, but the police hope to unravel it.

The second inquest held by Coroner Frank Eaker and which was preceded by an autopsy over Garner's remains, developed the fact that the body had been in the water only a short time, and that death resulted from a broken neck.

C. J. (Frosty) Morgan, who first discovered the corpse in the water, testified that he went down to the river early between 6 and 7 o'clock, and saw the corpse floating near the bank. This was near the sand docks at the foot of Monroe streets. He telephoned the police station and Officer Cross came down and with Morgan, tied a rope around the body and hauled it ashore.

Officer Cross stated he received first word at the market house and hastened down. The body was limp and the hat jammed down tight on the head. The flesh was soft and spongy and he did not believe the body had been in the water long.

Nick Frakes, the barber, testified that Garner was shaved in the Garritson shop where he is employed Saturday evening between 6 and 7 o'clock and got his hair trimmed about the neck. He put on a new collar, and Frakes' testimony relative to the shave and collar was corroborated by the body.

W. A. Heron, who worked with Garner, testified he had seen him last on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock one week ago, when paid off. Garner had not been drinking for several months, he testified. The last he heard of him was Sunday afternoon following that Saturday when he was seen near Tenth and Jackson streets.

Dr. Johnston Bass and Dr. P. H. Stewart, who performed the post-mortem testified that they did not think Garner had been dead more than 24 or 30 hours from date of discovery in the river; that the neck was broken and they thought the breaking was occasioned by some direct blow as the flesh was slightly broken about the edge of the hair and the break in the skin corresponded with that in the neck. A poker or stick, they thought, would have made such a bruise and caused such an injury. They testified that had the body been cast into the water immediately after death, it would float for some time, until the animal heat was consumed and the air replaced by water by absorption. This would take place within one or two hours. They thought that the blow had been dealt first and the body thrown into the river.

street, testified that he saw Garner very early Sunday morning on Second street and that Garner asked him to get him some whiskey; that he (Garner) was in a bad fix and needed it. Elrod stated Garner seemed to be drinking heavily and that he refused to get him liquor. Elrod described Garner even to the fresh shave and hair trim.

After the above testimony was given in, the jury went to the Matt-Elfinger shop and viewed the body after which it returned the verdict of death from broken neck or drowning, the means or persons responsible not being known.

Detective T. J. Moore began working on the case yesterday and gathered all information possible. It was learned that some one in the early morning was heard to walk across the sand digger docks by the night watchman who was in his house in bed. No attention was paid to it at the time as it was early morning and nearly light. The detectives, however, are working on every clue possible and hope to ferret out the mystery.

The theory has been advanced that Garner while without his glasses stumbled onto the docks, fell overboard and broke his neck on something hard in his fall, but it is hardly known how it could have been done.

Another theory is that Garner was dealt the blow on the neck and killed and that his body was taken to the river and dumped in. The hat being pulled down over his head was done because it probably fell off en route and who ever had the body in charge rammed it on tight to keep it from being left behind for evidence.

There are many points about the case which are baffling, but the strongest argument in favor of death by accident is the fact that no motive is known for a crime, if one was committed. Garner had no money so far as known, except perhaps a small amount, and he had no enemies so far as known who would have gone to the extremity of killing him. So far as the broken neck is concerned, there are isolated cases where a fall on the street or sidewalk, or a sudden blow in running into something, or even a sudden movement to dodge something, has broken the neck, and it might have happened that Garner in wandering about fell over something in such a way as to break his neck.

This morning the body of Garner was taken out into the Massana section by relatives for burial. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

MUDDY STREETS

Cause Much Complaint Among Down Town Merchants.

There is much complaint among the merchants on Broadway over the condition of the streets, especially the down-town thoroughfares, and the question is asked why the street inspector does not clean them up.
"Why, look at that brick street," said a merchant today, "it looks muddier, I'll wager, than the country roads around here."
When asked why something is not done with the streets, a member of the board of works said, "They should be cleaned." But who is to do it he did not vouchsafe.

Baptizing in a Turkish Bath Pool in Missouri.

Terre Haute Can't Even Buy a Stamp on Sunday—A 7,000,000 Word Transcript Filed.

2-CENT-FARE BILL IS SIGNED

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 13.—Miss Grace Daugherty and her brother, C. E. Daugherty, of this city, were baptized in the Turkish bath pool at the Coates house Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a large audience, Rev. J. T. Arnet, of the Brethren church of St. Louis, superintended the immersion.

Miss Daugherty and her brother were converted to christianity during revival services which have been in progress. Mr. Arnet had no trouble in convincing them that they ought to be baptized, but he argued vainly in favor of the usual method of river baptism. Ice is running in the Missouri as a result of the recent cold snap, and Miss Daugherty positively refused to take a plunge there until warmer weather. Thereupon Mr. Arnet arranged for the Turkish bath baptism. Mr. Arnet, who is a very small man, while Miss Daugherty is of ample proportions, lost his footing when he essayed to immerse his fair convert, and went down with her. Others rushed into the pool and dragged Miss Daugherty out, but the minister was allowed to shift for himself. If the ice stops running in the Missouri, a big batch of Mr. Arnet's converts will be baptized there next Sunday.

Couldn't Even Buy a Stamp.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 13.—The second Sunday of the enforcement of the blue laws found no one resisting and the police had little work to do. Confectioners had been reported as intending to make test cases, as were cigar dealers in hotels and restaurants, but they did not. Drug stores sold nothing except drugs, even refusing to sell postage stamps, although the police say they could have been sold. Workmen at the paper mill were ordered to report in court to have their vocation passed on as a necessity to prevent loss of material in the process of making paper.

Study of Bible Not Required.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 13.—The faculty of Depauw university at Greencastle, the oldest Methodist institution in the west, has surprised the students by dropping the study of the Bible from the list of required subjects and placing it in the elective class.

The institution was organized and has been sustained by Methodists throughout the country as an adjunct to the church, the study of the Bible has always been one of the required branches, and graduation, both for males and females, was impossible without it.

Hereafter the only required work will be language, science and rhetoric, even mathematics being placed in the elective class.

Transcript Has 7,000,000 Words.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 13.—Findings of Master in Chancery O. T. Crane in the noted case of Hugh Magone against the different smelting and mining companies of Butte and Anaconda were returned, finding for the defendant companies, on the grounds that the damages from the pollution of the streams into which the tailings from the smelting and mining plants has been deposited on farming lands in the Deer Lodge valley was more than offset by the general good resulting. The time consumed breaks all records in this state, more than nine months being consumed in the taking of testimony. The transcript embraces about 7,000,000 words.

Chaplains for Police.

New York, Feb. 13.—Commissioner Bingham has announced the appointments of Rev. John A. Wade and Rev. John D. Chidwick as chaplains for the police department. Never before has the department had chaplains.

The clergymen have the assimilated rank of inspectors. Mr. Wade is attached to the New York Episcopal city mission society and is chaplain of the Tombs. Father Chidwick is pastor of St. Ambrose's church. He was formerly chaplain in the United States navy and served on the Maine until she was destroyed.

Sang "Everybody Works But Father" Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 13.—Twice within a half hour Robert Lehmann attempted suicide, first by poison and then by drowning.

"You see, it's this way," he said when brought into court on the charge of inebriety, as the tears trickled down his cheeks. "I used to have a wife and four children. Whenever I went home I heard them sing 'Everybody Works But Father.' "They kept it up so long that I began to think they were making a personal attack on me; then I commenced drinking. About three weeks ago my wife got a divorce. I thought I could not give her up. Things have been going from bad to worse ever since."

Brought Back to Life After Inquest.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 13.—The experience of being pronounced dead will never be forgotten by Estha Cardoso, of El Paso, who swallowed carbolic acid and lay on her couch twenty-four hours, apparently deceased. Three doctors pronounced life extinct, and the coroner rendered a verdict of death by poisoning and gave a certificate preliminary to burial.

The services of a Mexican physician were secured by the father in the hope of finding some evidence of life, and the girl's recovery now seems certain. The remedy employed to bring the young girl back to life are unrevealed.

No Sunday Funerals.

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 13.—By an agreement made between the ministers, undertakers, livermen, florists and cemetery associations, there will be no Sunday funerals in this city in the future. The action is the result of agitation that has been going on for several weeks. Ministers representing every denomination in the city signed a pledge not to take charge of Sunday services, either at the home of the dead or in church.

Signed Two-Cent Fare Bill.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—Gov. Patterson signed the Freiner 2-cent fare bill and it is now a law. It will not go into effect, however, until thirty days have elapsed. The law provides that 2 cents shall be the maximum rate charged in Ohio for transporting passengers on the railroads of Ohio for all distances in excess of five miles.

To Investigate Secret Service.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The secret service branch of the treasury department will be subjected to a severe congressional scrutiny if the talk now heard among members of the house committee on appropriations results in action. The indications are that an attempt will be made to find out to what extent the service has resolved itself into a secret spy system.

King of Italy's Gift.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Of rare value and beauty is the gift of the king of Italy to Miss Roosevelt on the occasion of her marriage. It is a table of Italian mosaic work, showing scenes from Italian cities and towns. The table was made in Florence and was personally selected by the king.

Itch—Ringworm.

E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes April 25, 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as the 'itch.' The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ring worm and it cured completely. 25c, 50c and $1 at Alvey & List's and G. C. Kolb's."

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Mr. Charles Smith Succeeds the Late George Rock in German Evangelical Church.

Mr. Charles Smith, one of the members of the board of directors of the German Evangelical church, was last evening elected president of the congregation to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late Mr. George Rock, who was elected for two years last August. Mr. Jno. Rock was elected on the board of directors to succeed Mr. Smith.

THE FUTURE QUEEN OF LITTLE SERBIA

May Be Daughter of a Former Paducahan.

She Was Formerly Miss Eleanor Calhoun, Daughter of the Late "Zeke" Calhoun.

SHE NOW HAS RELATIVES HERE

London, Feb. 13.—The threatening state of affairs existing in Serbia which seems to indicate an early fall of the present government, has brought forth an army of claimants to the throne. One eligible candidate is Lazarovich Greblanovich, in whom Americans will be interested. He is married to an American woman, Miss Eleanor Calhoun, a member of the great southern family. Greblanovich, who is a direct descendant of the ancient Serbian royal house of Doushan and Lazar, is not urging his claim, although he is known to be extremely popular among the Servians. He has been exiled from his native land by the present government.

The Eleanor Calhoun mentioned is the daughter of the late Mr. "Zeke" Calhoun, formerly of Paducah, but who lived many years in California.

She was an actress of great talent and spent much time abroad before her marriage.

Mrs. Louis M. Rieke, of this city, is a first cousin, her father, Mr. Jas. Calhoun, and Mr. "Zeke" Calhoun being brothers. Some of the older Paducahans remember Mr. Calhoun quite well as a boy. His daughter has never visited here, and California was her home previous to going abroad.

SEVERAL DAYS

Will Probably Elapse Before Mangrum Case Develops.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 13.—While they would not give details, detectives state that they are working on new and what are expected to be very important clues in connection with the noted Mangrum murder case. During the past few weeks the local detective force has been very busy running down a large collection of rumors and alleged clues.

Officers scout the idea that the articles found near the chute at the state prison belonged to Mrs. Mangrum or were worn by her. The belt, they say, was an old, wornout one and would not have been worn by a lady who dressed in the taste Mrs. Mangrum was known to observe. The combs, it is said, were of a cheap variety and nothing like the kind she wore.

Whether she was killed near this city or elsewhere is a mooted question, and opinion on it is about equally divided, many being of the opinion that she was killed near Evansville, Ind., or in the vicinity of the Henderson bridge over the Ohio river. In either instance a great distance would have to be covered for her body to float near Cairo, Ill.

No startling development need be expected in the case for a few days at least, as Mrs. Logan Trousdale, who is most active in prosecuting the search for the murderer of her sister, has returned to her home in Birmingham, Ala. to recuperate for a few days.

BRYAN'S SPEECH

Is Said to Have Aroused Chinese Against Us.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 13.—Samuel Glasgow, manager of a milling Co. of Spokane and Seattle, has received Hong Kong newspapers and letters from William Burt, Chinese representative of the company, which state that a speech made by William J. Bryan before Chinese merchants at a dinner given by them in his honor, has been used by Chinese agitators to stir up fresh agitation against American products. Mr. Bryan, it is declared, at a dinner in his honor by Chinese merchants, declared that the American people would never consent to a repeal of the exclusion laws, whereupon the Chinese merchants became convinced that congress would not adopt the changes previously recommended by the American merchants and that their best policy was to put on the boycott screws tighter than ever.

Old Time Mistakes

AND MODERN COMMON SENSE

Lancets were an old time remedy. The old physician said when he saw his patient, "too much blood."

Therewith he applied the lancet and made the already weak man weaker.

Now, if he had left the blood, but taken out the poison, which unknown to him was causing the illness, he would have cured his patient at once.

Today we all know that the body needs its blood—all of it—and that to cure disease you must purify the system.

The commonest poison in the system is uric acid, which is the direct cause of Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Kidney and Stomach Troubles, Catarrh and Eczema.

The Modern Explanation of Uric Acid Diseases.

Did you ever get your feet wet—and catch cold?

And then the next day have a twinge of pain in your knee?

Look out! That's the beginning. Nature is warning you in time that there's too much uric acid in your system.

Nature can get rid of it all right if you are perfectly healthy—but you see by catching cold—or it may be from worry or overwork—you have weakened your blood—"reduced the alkalinity of your blood," your physician calls it.

Weak blood cannot carry uric acid—and uric acid remaining in the body, sooner or later turns into uric salts.

Uric salts lodge in the joints causing rheumatism—in the muscles, causing inflammatory rheumatism—in the mucous membranes, causing catarrh—in the walls of the stomach, causing Dyspepsia.

FOREWARNINGS OF URIC ACID DISEASE

Poor digestion, biliousness, headache, sluggish brain, sleeplessness, dry skin, dark colored urine, darting pains, palpitation, and in women, menstrual disorders. These are the sure forerunners of disease.

R For the sake of health do not neglect the above symptoms. Take LIFE PLANT at once. If you already have any disease following any of these symptoms—act now—take LIFE PLANT. Cure yourself by removing the cause of disease.

SENATOR TILMAN

Introduces a Resolution in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Senator Tillman, upon authorization of the interstate commerce committee, has introduced in the senate a joint resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to investigate whether any railroads is directly or indirectly interested in coal or other products and whether any of them can limit the output of coal and other products. The resolution is a veritable dragnet in its scope.

Want to Know How to Get Food.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 13.—At a meeting of Tartars and Armenians resolutions were adopted calling upon the masses in Caucasus to suggest better ways for obtaining food.

NATURE'S ESSENCE

Extracted from the Roots of Native Forest Plants.
Go Straight Back to Nature for Your Health.
There is Your Strength.

Consider your body as an engine which supplies you with all activity of mind and body. Keep the machinery well oiled and it runs smoothly. It does not groan in doing its work. But let the stomach, which is the fire-box to the human engine, get "out of kilter" and we soon meet with disaster. The products of undigested and decomposing food is poison to the system.

We do not live on what we eat but on what we digest, assimilate, and take up in the blood. The blood in turn feeds the nerves, the heart, and the whole system, and all goes well with us if the blood be kept pure and rich. If not, then the liver, which is the human filter within us, gets clogged up and poisons accumulate in the body from over-eating, over-drinking, or hurriedly doing both. The snash-up occurs when the blood is poisoned by the stomach and liver being unable to take care of the over-load. The red flag of danger is thrown out in the shape of eruptions on the skin, or in nervousness and sleeplessness, the sufferer becoming blue, despondent and irritable, because the nerves lack nourishment and are starved.

Nature's laws are perfect if only we obey them, but disease follows disobedience. Go straight to Nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries there, some of which we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the Wild-cherry tree, with Mandrake root, Stone root, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Golden Seal root, make a scientific, Glyceric extract of them, with just the right proportions, and you have Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists and pharmacists, many months of hard work, experimenting to perfect this vegetable alternative and tonic extract of the greatest efficiency. To make rich, red blood, to properly nourish the nerves and the whole body, and cure that lassitude and feeling of weakness and nerve exhaustion—take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It bears the name of HONESTY upon every bottle in the full list of its ingredients, printed in plain English, and it has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the invigorating tonic which gives life to and animates the fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated in the system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is just the tissue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, pneumonia or a long siege of fever or other prostrating disease. No matter how strong the constitution, our stomach and liver are apt to be "out of kilter" occasionally. In consequence our blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves.

The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has the BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

—BY—
HAMLIN GARLAND
COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HAMLIN GARLAND

His manner toward Ann was that of a polite acquaintance merely, and her fear of something—she hardly knew what—instinctively vanished. His bearing during dinner and throughout the evening made her forget the kind of person he had hitherto seemed to her, and she began to study him in his true character. He dropped all his ranch life phrases and, putting aside his reserve, talked with entire intellectual freedom, showing a knowledge of books and of communities remarkable in any man. Once or twice as she encountered his glance a mysterious movement ran about her heart and her breath quickened.

As they rose from dinner and while he stood to allow her to pass he said: "You are very beautiful tonight. Mountain air has done wonders for you."

"You are very courteous," she responded, and her eyes fell exasperatingly, and she walked away with a sense of having revealed a weakness. He came into the drawing room half an hour later to say good night to his hostess, looking very tired and pale, and when he took Ann's hand his eyes were burning with deep inner passion. "Good night," he said, "and forgive me for any impertinence." She scarcely had time to reply, to ask him meaning for Mrs. Barnett ordered him instantly to bed.

No voice responded to Louis' knock at Raymond's door next morning, and hurrying to Barnett's room, Louis called excitedly, "Cousin Don, have you seen Rob?"

Barnett, splashing in his tub, shouted: "No. Can't you find him?"

"He isn't in his room."

"He's gone down to breakfast, then. Hurry along and keep him company. Don't let him go out."

Louis rushed into the breakfast room but found it empty. The maid said: "Are you looking for Mr. Raymond? He came down very early and said he was going out for a walk."

The boy hurried outdoors, filled with dismay. "He shouldn't be out alone. He might get dizzy and fall." He ran round the block, eagerly seeking Raymond, who was nowhere in sight. When Barnett entered Rob's room he found two letters lying on the little desk. One was addressed to Don and one to Ann.

Barnett broke the seal and read his note almost at a glance:

Dear Barnett—I'm sorry to pull out this way, but I am afraid it's my only way. I have been very uncomfortable because of my growing indolence to you and Mrs. Barnett, and so I have cut loose. Please don't think me ungrateful. It is because I feel so deeply your kindness that I go. Don't look for me. I'm going to hold up for a few days till I get strong. If you happen to get any clue to where I've gone, don't tell the boy. I can see that his sister does not approve of his fondness for me, and she is quite right. I'm not a proper companion for a boy of his sort. I incline a check, which squares up so far as money can, but your kindness in other ways, and especially Mrs. Barnett's care and assistance, I am in despair of ever paying. I slide out because it would be difficult and painful to say goodbye, and, besides, I feel that I must cut loose from the boy.

Raymond's note to Ann was short, almost curt:

Since my thanks are a burden to you, the least I can do is to take myself out of your life and beg pardon for having entered it. Had I attended to my duties that night of the fire, you would not have been troubled by me. I stayed because you were beautiful, and that is the whole truth. It is not the first time a man has neglected his duties for a woman, and the pain I now suffer in giving up all hope of meeting you again is a just punishment for my presumption. I am sorry to go without saying goodbye to Louis, but it is his best. I know you do not like his growing regard for me, and you are quite right.

Louis came to her door and cried out dolefully, "Ann, Rob has gone away."

"I know it. Come in."

He entered with troubled, tearful face and in deeply aggrieved tone said: "He went without saying goodbye. I want to go hunt him and bring him back, but Uncle Don says that we must respect his wish. All the same, I like him, and I want him back. No, I don't—I want to go with him."

"And leave me?"

His resentment, long smoldering, burst forth: "Yes, I would! Don't you suppose I have seen how you treated him? You think because you're from New York you can snub a man like Rob, but you're not up to him. You're not half as good as he is."

Ann listened in astonishment to this outburst from her brother and then cuttingly remarked:

"One would think I had taken away some plaything of yours. Go out of my room and stay out till you can treat me with respect."

"I'm going, and you'll never see me again. I'm going to follow Rob. I don't care what you say." With this defiant cry he rushed from the room.

A keen ache of jealousy ran through the proud girl's heart. The one soul of vital interest in her life, her sweet little brother, seemed about to pass from her hands to that of an adventurer. Her resentment of his influence blazed hot within her. "I will defeat him with his own weapons," she said. "I will win him back to me. I will go wherever he wishes to go."

But Louis did not return to lunch, and she was greatly troubled. He did not appear at dinner, and at last, openly alarmed, Ann told Mrs. Barnett of Louis' bitter accusation and of his threat that he would never return.

"Don't worry. Don't ever find him. He'll get tired of it and come back. These boys are just trying to get lost."

"You're not half as good as he is."

"It scares me to think of that poor, innocent lad spending the night alone in a big, wicked western city. I wish Don would hurry home. Can't I go down to his office?"

"Oh, no; there's no need of your going. I'll telephone him at once."

When Barnett returned, Ann, white with anxiety, poured out her story. He comforted her by saying: "You take it too seriously. I will notify the police at Cinnabar and Mergalyn. They'll locate him in an hour."

They did not find him, and Ann passed a miserable night, imagining all sorts of ill adventures into which Louis might be led, and would have accompanied Barnett on his quest next day but for his firm command: "Don't be absurd. I can find him alone much quicker."

"Bring him back if you have to use force," she cried. And then, with a knowledge of Raymond's power, she added: "If you find Mr. Raymond, please tell him to send Laddie home. Say I wish it."

With these words in his ear Barnett took his way to his office. At lunch he was more concerned. "He's not in Cinnabar nor any of the surrounding towns. He may have gone back to the ranch. I will wire out there this afternoon. Did he have any money?"

Don whistled. "A smart boy can hide out a good while on that. However, he'll come back when his pet wears off."

Even though Raymond had taken himself bodily out of her life, his power to disturb and thwart Ann's will remained. She began to fear him a little. He was bigger, more powerful, than she had thought him. Could she have found him in the days which followed—days of increasing unrest and anxiety—she would have humbly asked him to find the runaway and bring him back to her, but he had disappeared as utterly as if he had never been.

THE HOUSE

Will Take No Official Notice, But It Will Adjourn.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Although the house will not take official recognition of the wedding of Miss Roosevelt and Representative Longworth on Saturday, February 17, adjournment will be taken on Friday, February 16, until the following Monday, without apportioning the purpose. In this manner the house will avoid establishing a precedent.

Mr. Hengelmuller, the Austrian ambassador here, and acting dean of the diplomatic corps, after a conference with officials of the Washington government, has advised his government that it is the wish of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt that no official gifts shall be presented to their daughter upon the occasion of her marriage to Mr. Longworth.

Whatever presents are sent will be in the nature of a personal expression of good will from the sovereign, and not as presents from the governments themselves.

Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Vilet, New Castle, Co., writes, March 19, 1902: "I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant to take." For sale by Alvey & List and G. C. C. Kolb.

HAD TO SHOOT

To Protect Himself From Liquor-Crazed Father-in-Law.

Wharton, Tex., Feb. 13.—G. B. Higginbotham was shot and killed by his son-in-law, W. J. Jackson. Higginbotham had been drinking heavily and several times threatened Jackson, who left town to avoid trouble. Upon his return he found that Higginbotham had been locked up, and he secured his release.

Higginbotham got a money order cashed and bought a gun. Late at night he entered the Watts hotel and went to the room occupied by Jackson and his wife. He broke the door in and entered with the gun in his hand. Mrs. Jackson sprang up and rushed toward her father to prevent Jackson being killed, but the latter fired as his wife reached her father, sending a bullet into the older man's head and causing instant death. Mrs. Jackson's neck was badly powder-burned. Jackson was locked up.

Escaped From Jail.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 13.—Armen Paul Barrett and Ed Jackson, two colored prisoners who were confined in the city workhouse on petty charges, broke jail. Two heavy timbers barring the window on the inside were sawed through.

All Trains Stopped for Ten Minutes—Depots to Be Draped in Mourning.

Supt. W. J. Hills, of the N. C. & St. L. railroad, left today for Nashville to attend the funeral of the late Major J. W. Thomas, president of the road, who died at Nashville yesterday morning. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon and all the trains on the road, both freight and passenger, were stopped at that hour for ten minutes. The engines and depots of the railroad have been ordered draped in mourning for thirty days.

Major Thomas was aged 76, and one of the best known railroad men in the country. He was a native of Nashville and entered the railroad service in November, 1858. From December, 1858, to January, 1863, he was agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway at Murfreesboro, Tenn., and from January, 1863, to July, 1865, was in charge of the rolling stock of the same road. From July, 1865, to September, 1868, he was auditor and paymaster, and from September, 1868, to September, 1872, superintendent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad. From September, 1883, to September, 1884, Major Thomas was general manager, and from September, 1884, to January 1, 1899, president and general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, since which time he has been president.

Heart failure was the direct cause of Major Thomas' death. He leaves a wife and one son, John W. Thomas, Jr., general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad.

WELL KNOWN DRUMMER DEAD.

W. H. Brennecke a Victim of Bright's Disease.

William H. Brennecke, aged 58, one of the oldest and best known salesmen traveling out of Evansville and who frequently came to Paducah, died Sunday. He had been in ill health for three years from Bright's disease.

The deceased was a native of Evansville and had followed the pursuit of a traveling salesman nearly all of his life. For the last several years he had traveled for the Indiana Stove works and previous to connecting himself to that firm had been on the road for other stove companies.

About two years ago his health began to fail, but he kept on at his work until last August when he was forced to leave the road. He had been confined to his home the greater part of the time since August.

He leaves one son, William, who is now in Denver, Colo., for his health. Besides these he leaves three brothers. Chief of Police Fred Brennecke of Evansville, is a brother.

Toric Lenses...

IN looking through the ordinary flat lens, usually the wearer must move his head instead of only his eyes to obtain satisfactory vision without distortion of the object or of its position. But with TORICS one may enjoy excellent full vision nearly to the edges of the Lenses merely by moving the eyes. When we reflect how instant opticians are to the exact centering of Lenses, this property of the TORIC LENS offers the most important advantage. In fact, it is so valuable that there are people who can use the TORIC with comfort whose eyes will not tolerate the ordinary Lens. TORIC LENSES more closely follow the curves of the eye than the other Lenses do, and for this reason it is more difficult to see over or under the Lens or to see the rims. It has the further effect of cutting off any annoying back reflection as well as preventing an internal reflection, sometimes so dazzling as to make the flat Lense useless. TORIC LENSES have been in use for some time, but, like all big improvements, the price was very high. Recent improvements in machinery for grinding TORIC LENSES bring the price to only a little more than the old flat Lenses. Bring your old glasses in and let me explain the advantages of TORIC LENSES.

The Improved TORIC Lens, showing how it fits at the Eye

LEITER PREPARING

For Strike—Has Hired Non-Union Men for His Mines.

Du Quoin, Ill., Feb. 13.—For the first time in several months a contingent of laborers was imported into Zeigler, Joe Leiter's mining town southwest of this city, late yesterday afternoon under guard. The party numbered about fifty, and came from Tennessee. Guards boarded the train at Carbondale and accompanied the men into Zeigler.

There are nearly 400 men now employed in and about Zeigler mine, and the impending strike is thought to have been the cause of Mr. Leiter's determination to increase the output of his mine. He anticipates a strike and is now in St. Louis with his attorney soliciting orders for coal in the event of a strike.

Operations at the Zeigler mine will continue uninterrupted, and in this case Mr. Leiter hopes to be reimbursed for the thousands of dollars he has expended in carrying on the fight against organized labor.

LARGE FORCE

Will Be Put On at the Columbia Manufacturing Company at Once.

The Columbia Manufacturing company, the company occupying the plant formerly owned by the Rex Manufacturing company, in Mechanicsburg, is preparing to increase its capacity and put on a larger force. It is thought the concern will be employing 150 hands in a few weeks.

The company manufactures picture moulding and wood novelties. The company was organized by Edgar Roos, Jr., of Chicago, who was connected with the Roos Manufacturing Co., of Chicago for a number of years. The Chicago plant burned two weeks ago, and a good deal of its business has been diverted to the local concern, which last week booked orders for over 13 cars.

SENIOR EPWORTH LEAGUE

Decides to Change Its Meeting Time to Monday Evening.

The Senior Epworth League of the Broadway Methodist church at its business meeting held last evening, decided to change the time of its regular weekly meetings from 6:30 Sunday evening to 7:30 Monday evenings, beginning with March 5.

The change was made to accommodate many who claim the hour before church on Sunday night is too early and inconvenient for them to attend. If Monday evening proves more successful it will be made a permanent thing.

Various plans for the upbuilding of the league work were outlined at the meeting.

WORTEN ADDITION WANTS A CAR LINE

Big Petition Will Be Submitted to Company.

The Car Extensions Will Be of Great Advantage to the City if Made.

HOW THE CARS MAY RUN

A petition will be presented to the street car company in a few days with over 450 signers asking that it extend its lines out to Worten's addition, but what the street car company will do about it could not be learned today. The company has a very comprehensive scheme of track extensions it wishes to make this year, but it depends, in a great measure, on what the city will do about a joint bridge at Island creek—one to be built, and paid for by the street car company and the city.

If this bridge is built, the company will take its lines over into Mechanicsburg, but if it is not, that extension will be deferred to an indefinite date. When it is decided what the city will do with that matter, the company will take up the track extensions for the year. The Worten addition extension, and the extension to the race track will be considered as well as several changes to be made in some of the present lines.

One feature of the company's plans that will be a good one for the public is to have the union depot cars go out Broadway to Sixth street, south on Sixth to Clark, west on Clark to Eighth, south on Eighth to Tennessee, thence on Tennessee, as now, to the station. This would take the car by the Palmer House.

IN CONGRESS

The Wife-Whipping Bill Was Laid On the Table.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The house had sport with the whipping post bill for wife-beaters and then laid it on the table, effectively disposing of it by a vote of 153 to 60. A most impassioned speech for the measure was delivered by Hepburn of Iowa, who depicted the brutality of a man who would beat his wife, and declared that to be whipped was hardly an adequate punishment.

Adams opened the discussion with a serious speech in favor of the bill. All the opposing speeches partook of a lively character and Adams received more than one fling because he is a bachelor.

The bill requiring a return of freight rebates was passed, also a measure relating to court procedure. The rebate bill provides that when a rebate has been received with guilty knowledge, it is a violation of the law and double the amount is to be returned by the recipient, and half this amount is to go to the informant.

NEARING AN END

Is the Work of the City Supervisors.

The city board of supervisors finished totaling the realty assessments yesterday afternoon and the total realty assessments are $6,768,617, an increase over last year of $241,340.

The board did not meet today to work on the personality assessments as the sessions have been held in the council chamber at the city hall and the council had a meeting today. The work on the personality, however, will be pushed to a conclusion this week, and figures may be available tomorrow.

When the supervisors have completed their work the council will take up the tax rate for the year, but from very reliable sources it is learned, as The Sun stated yesterday, that the rate will be $1.60 or $1.62.

BIG VERDICT

Returned in Favor of Mrs. Blair at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 13.—The jury today returned a verdict for $27,854 in favor of Mrs. Apollonia Blair, widow of the former general counsel of the World's Fair in her suit against the Provident Savings and Life Assurance company of New York, on the policy on her husband's life. The company refused payment on the ground that Blair contemplated suicide when he signed the policy contract.

A New Magazine for You

I am bringing out another new magazine that you will come pretty close to liking. I wouldn't be surprised if it hit you harder than anything in the shape of a magazine you have ever seen. Something New in Magazine Making

THE SCRAP BOOK is the most elastic thing that ever happened in the way of a magazine—elastic enough to carry anything from a tin whistle to a battleship. Everything that appeals to the human brain and human heart comes within its compass—fiction, which is the backbone of periodical circulation; biography, review, philosophy, science, art, poetry, wit, humor, pathos, satire, the weird, the mystical—everything that can be classified and everything that cannot be classified. A paragraph, a little bit, a saying, an editorial, a joke, a maxim, an epigram.

Nothing Like It in the World

There isn't anything in the world just like THE SCRAP BOOK. It is an idea on which we have been working for several years, and for which we have been gathering materials. We have bought hundreds and hundreds of scrap books from all over the country, some of them a century old, and are still buying them. From these books we are gathering and classifying an enormous number of gems, and facts and figures, and historical and personal bits that are of rare value. Furthermore, we have a corps of people ransacking libraries, reading all the current publications, the leading daily papers, and digging out curious and quaint facts and useful facts and figures from reference book, cyclopedia, etc., etc.

Don't fail to get a copy of this first issue of THE SCRAP BOOK. It sells at the price at which all our other magazines sell—Ten Cents a Copy and One Dollar by the Year.

Indications of An Ice War in Paducah If a New Plant is Established in City

The ice business gives every promise of being a "warm proposition" in Paducah this summer. The Consumers Ice Company has announced it has about perfected all its arrangements for the location of a 100-ton-a-day ice plant here to be ready for business this summer and the Paducah Ice company, alive to the conditions, has announced itself ready for the fray. The public, for one time, will be the gainer by the conflict as the new company has announced that it will sell ice at 25c a 100, and the old company comes along with the counter announcement to its patrons not to be too hasty in signing new contracts at any price, for in the parlance of the day, "there will be something doing in the ice price line."

One of the directors of the Paducah Ice company, when asked about the coming conflict, today, said: "We are suggesting to our patrons that they go slow in signing any contracts for 25c a 100 for ice as we certainly are not going to sit by with folded hands, so to speak, in the face of competition. We are now in a position to make ice cheaper than any proposed new competitor, and certainly will offer the consumers a better proposition than the new company can, even though we lose money by it. We have been selling ice for some time to the large consumers at 35c, and what the price will be this summer remains to be seen."

Meanwhile the public will await the conflict with marked interest. Ice at 25c or 20c will mean more "pin money" for the housekeepers as ice bills are a big item of the household expense.
